

Simple Crochet Bunting Pattern

The only stitches you need to know are:-

ch - chain

dc - double crochet (single crochet in US)

I'm using a 4mm hook and double knit weight yarn.

Row 1. First, chain 2.

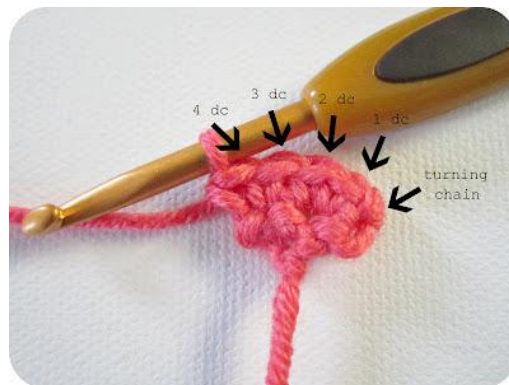

Row 2. Work two dc into the second chain from the hook (ie. the first chain you made).

Row 3. Turn your work. Ch 1. Dc twice into each of the two stitches.

You should now have four dc stitches in your row.

Row 4. Turn your work. Ch 1. Dc twice in the first stitch then dc once in each of the remaining 3 stitches. (5 stitches in row.)

Row 5. Turn your work. Ch 1. Dc twice in the first stitch then dc once in each of the remaining 4 stitches. (6 stitches in row.)

Row 6. Turn your work. Ch 1. Dc twice in the first stitch then dc once in each of the remaining 5 stitches. (7 stitches in row.)

And so on! Continue working two dcs in the first stitch of each row and one in each of the rest.

Keep going until you are happy with the size of your triangle.

My last row had 24 stitches in it (23 rows) which has given me approximately 4.5" long triangles.

Fasten off and sew in the end of the yarn.

I recommend blocking your triangles before you join them together.

To join your bunting triangles together, select your choice of yarn. I chose cream. Chain 30 (or more if you want a longer tie) and then, right side of your triangle facing you, carefully double crochet along the top.

Carry on chaining (I chained 6 in between each triangle) and dc-ing along the tops of all your triangles and then chain an additional 30 for the other end of the tie. Turn your work, chain 1 and then dc your way all the way back along both the chains (bit tricky so do take your time) and dcs.

Fasten off and sew in your ends.

That's it!

Well done!

You can now string up your bunting!
